

Cereal Box Weaving

You will need:

- Empty cereal box
- Ruler
- Scissors
- Pencil
- Strips of fabric or ribbons about 1cm wide
- Wool

What To Do:

Cut out one side of a cereal box so that you have a square or rectangle of card for the loom.

Using a ruler, mark 1cm from the top edge of your piece of card. Draw a line across the top of the card.

With scissors, make snips about 1cm apart up to the line you have drawn.

Repeat steps 2 and 3 for the opposite end of the loom.

Loop the wool around the first snips you have made at both ends. Take the wool around the back of the card and tie a knot.

Continue looping the wool through the snips until you have covered the whole side.

Tie a knot to secure the end of the wool when you have finished.

Take a ribbon or strip of fabric and weave it 'over' and 'under' the wool until you reach the end of the row. Turn the loom over and continue weaving with the 'over and under' pattern until you reach the end of the row.

Tie both ends of the ribbon together in a knot.

Take another strip of fabric and repeat steps 6 and 7. You need to do the opposite pattern to your first strip, so instead of 'over, then under,' you must do 'under, then over.'

Continue weaving the strips of fabric, knotting each strip at the end and pushing up the strips, so there are no gaps between rows.

When you have filled your loom with strips of fabric, your weaving is complete.
